Keahuolu Courthouse Employee Tests Positive for COVID-19

An employee at the Keahuolu Courthouse has tested positive for COVID-19. The employee was last at work on Dec. 8 and received a confirmed positive test result that same day. The employee does not work in a courtroom and did not have close or frequent contact with coworkers or court users.

The areas where this person works are cleaned regularly. Out of an abundance of caution, the areas received additional disinfecting with electrostatic sprayers. To view more:

Department of Public Safety:

Inmate and Staff Testing Continues

COVID-19 testing of staff and inmates at the Halawa Correctional Facility (HCF) continues. Of 103 inmate test results received, 63 were positive and 40 were negative. The 55 staff test results included six (6) additional positive cases and 49 negative cases. That brings the total active positive cases to 68 inmates and 21 staff. The positive inmates are in medical isolation. All positive staff are following CDC and DOH self-quarantine guidelines. As a precautionary measure the HCF warden implemented facility-wide isolation and quarantine protocols yesterday. These include suspending all inmate movement within the facility, as well as transfers to and from the facility, for at least 14 days.

Additionally, the test results for 38 PSD employees came back negative. PSD offered testing on Wednesday after an employee assigned to the Sheriff Division Administrative Staff reported a positive COVID-19 test result to PSD Tuesday evening.

Surge testing of inmates and staff at facilities statewide is ongoing. Waiawa Correctional Facility (WCF) reports 19 inmate test results. Of that number, 1 was positive and 18 were negative. All 12 WCF staff results were negative, and 23 Kaua'i Community Correctional Center staff results were also negative.
